

NC News app

News & discussion website (API: ncnewsbackend.herokuapp.com)

As a user, I should be able to...

- view a list of all articles
- view a page for each topic with a list of related articles.
- view an individual article.
- view an individual article's comments.
- vote on an article and immediately see the change.
- post a new comment to an existing article (as a default logged in user. e.g. 'jessjelly').
- sort articles by:
 - date created
 - comment_count
 - votes
- delete my own comments (as a default logged in user. e.g. 'jessjelly').

Error-handling: As a user, I should...

- see an appropriate error if I go on a non-existent path / a path for a non-existent article / topic.
- not be allowed to post a comment if I have not filled in all of the form boxes.

As a hiring partner, I should be able to...

- use the site on my mobile without sacrificing style or functionality (as I may not have my laptop nearby).
- follow the readme instructions to easily run the project locally.
- find a link to the hosted version of the project in the readme. (use a placeholder if not yet hosted!)
- find a link to the back-end repository of the project in the readme.
- find a link to the hosted version of the back-end project in the readme.

If time, and if you have implemented it in your back-end API...

As a user, I should be able to...

- vote on a comment and immediately see the change.
- navigate over pages of articles (e.g. using pagination or infinite scroll).
- navigate over pages of comments (e.g. using pagination or infinite scroll).
- view a list of all articles written by any specific user.
- post a new article to an existing topic.
- delete my own articles.

Twice-Baked Butternut Squash
Is the Thanksgiving Side Dish of Your Dreams

5

What if, for once, your Thanksgiving sides were just as dazzling as the centerpiece turkey? Imagine a world where presenting a platter of seasonal vegetables inspires the same amount of cooing that the turkey does.
Welcome to the world of twice-baked butternut squash. Sure, you could just roast some squash wedges and call it a day. But where's the fun in that? To make this year's most impressive vegetable side, Epi's food director Rhoda Boone gave super-seasonal butternut squash the twice-baked potatoes treatment: Mash the inside of
